E-SEL-BIO

E-SEL-BIO was designed specifically to address the deficiency of vitamin E and selenium in poultry and livestock. Our product is packed with essential nutrients that promote immune system function, making it an ideal choice for post-vaccination reactions. It also helps treat and protect against muscle dystrophy and myodystrophy in calves and lambs, while supporting healthy thyroid function and metabolism.

In addition, our product helps maintain healthy reproductive function, protects cells against oxidative stress, and supports healthy skin, coat, and hoof growth. It is easy to administer and mix with water or feed, and safe for use according to industry standards and guidelines.
