VITATRIO 20

A, D3, E Vitamins are crucial for the immunity, growth, development, maintenance, and production of both poultry and cattle. Providing adequate amount of AD3E vitamin will support immune system, skin health, vision, bone health, muscle development from oxidative damage and supports immune function and reproductive health, and weight gain.

By providing these essential vitamins in diet, it can ensure optimal health and well-being of livestock, leading to improved growth, stronger immunity, and better production of eggs, milk
